

Creative Director: Maria Salter

Designer: Emma Harrison

Decisions:

- Overall, there was agreement on the creative brief and content outline, with no problems, mostly just flexibilities
- There is a bit more information than there should be, the designer was encouraged to focus on the information she felt was best
- Vision of purples, yellows, and plants was mostly agreed on, though designer was encouraged to deviate to explore other themes of Dionysus, ie. madness, wine, nature.
- Agreed that the page is most likely going to be multiple pages, and that it shouldn't be a problem
- As for images to be used, the only restriction given by the director is to have a focus on artwork, such as paintings of Dionysus, or frescos of worship.
- Designer and director agreed to stay in contact over the weekend, with the designer welcome to come forward with any questions about her decisions. Designer plans to send screenshots sometime during the weekend.
